Steel Pierces Car in Crash Killing Wife

Husband May Be Hurt Fatally As Result Of Freak Mishap

A young Burlingame matron was dead and her husband was in South San Francisco Hospital critically injured today as the result of an unusual automobile accident at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday on the Bayshore highway near the San Francisco county line.

The dead woman is Mrs. Ruth Lucy Seabrook, 31, of 1495 Sanchez avenue, Burlingame.

She was killed instantly when the car in which she and her husband were driving south ran into the back of a truck and trailer laden with structural steel.

The steel girders extended nine and a half feet back of the trailer, according to the report of investigating patrolmen, and when the motorists, apparently not seeing the trailer lights, ran into the steel, it went through their windshield striking them in their faces.

Mrs. Seabrook was killed outright, while her husband, Marsden R. Seabrook, 33, suffered a fractured skull, fractured jaw and had one eye gouged out. At the hospital it was said his condition was critical.

Driver of the truck was Lloyd H. Gibbins, 29, of Hayward.

Seabrook is an employe of the firm of Taylor, Clapp & Beall of San Francisco. The couple have no children, it was reported, but are believed to have relatives in Alameda.

San Mateo Manager Ouster Is Rumored

SAN MATEO, Apr. 18.—With the second meeting of the new city council slated for tonight, persistent city hall rumors today said that City Manager E. P. Wilsey would be ousted before the evening is over. Means of dismissing the $5000 a year executive would be adoption of an ordinance to declare the office vacant, it was reported.

A new air route to Key West, Fla., now brings that city within a little more than one hour's travel from Miami.

EASTER DAWN PROGRAM FOR SUNDAY ANNOUNCED

'The Living Hope of Immortality' Topic Of Rev. Stevens

Complete program for the Peninsula Easter Sunrise Services to be held at sunup, 5:27 a. m., Sunday at Emerald Lake Bowl west of Redwood City was announced today by Donald L. Bogie, chairman of the committee in charge. It is as follows:

Call to worship, trumpets.
Instrumental selection, orchestra.
Invocation, Rev. Charles H. Gatchell, pastor of the local Baptist church.
Hymn, "Christ the Lord Is Risen," congregation.
Prayer, Rev. Norman W. Pendleton, Congregational church pastor.
Choral selection, "Oh Day of Resurrection," chorus.
Easter sermon, "The Living Hope of Immortality," Rev. Daniel W. Stevens, pastor of the Methodist church in Palo Alto.
Hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," congregation.
Benediction, Rev. William J. Owen, pastor of the Redwood City Methodist Church.

Rev. Stevens, as principal speaker, will consider on the significance of Easter and its relationship to a future life, he said today. The Palo Alto man, who before his appointment to the church there last month was pastor of Oakland and San Francisco Methodist churches, is known as a dynamic speaker, and it is expected his will be an inspiring message, according to Bogie.

The orchestral and chorus numbers are expected to prove exceptionally delightful.

Under direction of Otis M. Carrington, the 110 members of the Palo Alto Light Opera Association, the Sequoia high school choral classes and the Burlingame-San Mateo opera group are expected to thrill the audience of the more than 5000 persons who, it is expected, will gather at the base of the giant cross to worship the risen Christ. Clifton H. Woodhams directs the 16-piece orchestra, which plays regularly at the Congregational church.

People planning to attend are urged to allow themselves at least a half hour from Redwood City and neighboring towns in order to be at the bowl at sunrise. Because of the traffic expected to the services, and because the parking district is several hundred feed from the bowl proper, it will take at least a half hour to reach the spot, according to Bogie.

City Clerk B. E. Myers will be master-of-ceremonies at the services, which are being sponsored by the Menokirk Club, Ministerial Union and City of Redwood City.

Scott May Take Fight to Court To Retain Office of Engineer

Determination to fight to the end any "trumped-up" charges against him in an attempt to oust him from office was expressed today by County Engineer Carl Reid Scott.

Believing that he was within his right in refusing to accede to some of the demands for patronage made upon him, and that he ently and in a practical manner since he took it over in January, Scott said he was in the post to stay, and would carry the fight to the court if necessary.

The resignation given by him to County Executive Walter Kellogg, and which was turned over a week ago to District Attorney Gilbert Ferrel, was his resignation from his former position as assistant under James S. James, he declared.

TELLS OF RESIGNATION

"When I was offered the engineer's job I asked if I hadn't better resign first from my other job, to avoid any legal difficulties. I was told that that would be best, so I handed my resignation to County Executive Kellogg. That is the only resignation I submitted."

District Attorney Ferrell reiterated today that the resignation was now invalid, as far as removing the engineer from his present position was concerned.

Distribution of jobs in the road department, which employs between 50 and 80 men at various times of the year, has long been a bone of contention in the engineer's office since the road work was centralized under that division.

Scott, when pressure was exerted to put on men in the department who he felt were not qualified, consulted District Attorney Ferrell, who told him to run his own department regardless of ideas of others, including members of the board of supervisors.

JAMES NOT INTERESTED

Asked today about rumors that he might be reinstated in office in the event ouster moves against Scott succeed, former Engineer James S. James from his Redwood City office declared:

"There being no vacancy, I am not interested in the office. I am quite happy and am doing well in my private business. I wouldn't expect an offer to be made to me without strings attached, and I wouldn't take that kind of a job."

It was also pointed out that the board of supervisors, two members of which were formerly favorable to James, does not have the appointing of an engineer, but that it is up to County Executive Kellogg.

HIGH SAID FAVORABLE

Supervisor High, who approved removal of James from office, was reported, however, now more favorable to the former official in event a new appointment had to be made.

Kellogg again had "nothing to say" today about the matter.

Engineer Scott, in commenting upon Supervisor Al Witt's charges that the engineer's license had been suspended for six months last year, declared that the suspension had been for only three months, and that since he was then assistant engineer, for which no license is required, he was within his legal rights in continuing in the employ of the county.

Scott had been suspended by the state board because of irregularities in his application for a license.

CHOOSES 20-DAY TERM

Elmer Owens, 32-year-old Emerald Lake truck driver who was arrested by local police on a charge of driving while intoxicated, today pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of reckless driving and was sentenced to 20 days in jail by Judge Edward I. McAuliffe. Owens had the choice of the jail term or paying a $100 fine, but chose to serve his time.

Drake Reveals Transit Plans In Detail Here

Says Public Financing Of Transportation To Come Next

Declaring that the day of private capital handling the commuter problem of the peninsula is past, Fred H. Drake, pioneer San Carlos developer, Monday secured the endorsement of the city council of Redwood City in support of a municipal district to operate rapid transit trains.

Endorsement came by voting support of Senate Bill No. 511 which was introduced by State Senator Walter McGovern of San Francisco.

The board's vote was unanimous with Councilman Evans Fletcher, who later voted against municipal acquisition of the electric utility, placing the motion for support of the transportation bill. Councilman George McNulty seconded the motion.

Drake declared that "airtram" cars will handle the commuter of the near future. He said the plans for the municipal operation of rapid transit trains did not contemplate the taking over of the present facilities of the Southern Pacific. Drake said, in fact, that the railroad would be glad to be rid of the commuter problem.

The municipal operation of trains calls for San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Marin and possibly Alameda counties to join in a rapid transit district. Alameda is uncertain at this time that it will join and may decide to seek the benefits of the Oakland bay bridge for itself alone.

The purpose of the district operation of rapid transit trains is to put all bay area counties on a par for rates and service so that no one district will gain all the commuter population.

Drake declared San Mateo and Santa Clara counties were "out on a limb" at the present time and stood to lose if some plan of rapid transit is not provided.

Financing of the rapid transit system is contemplated under revenue bonds, which would pay for themselves from earnings, or under the 4880 million dollar PWA program, Drake said.

The bill will come up for final hearing before Senator McGovern's committee on municipal corporations at Sacramento tomorrow. Councilman Paul McCarthy will attend and assist the rapid transit cause.

Supervisor High Named in Action

Supervisor Walter M. High, Burlingame automobile dealer, was today made defendant in a $17,500 damage action brought against him and Henry Danz by Arthur H. Ascherman.

The suit is the outgrowth of an automobile accident March 2, 1935 on the Bayshore highway near South San Francisco. Cars driven by Danz, owned by High, and by Ascherman collided, according to the complaint, which was filed in superior court by Attorney Carl R. Schulz.

Ascherman sustained permanent injuries, including a disfiguring scar upon his forehead, he claims in the suit.

SHOALS FAIR SITE IS GIVEN SUPPORT

Builders Take Back Previous Action; New Meet Set

Hopes of Mills Field fair site proponents were dimmed today by action of the executive committee of the San Francisco Building Trades Council Tuesday, rescinding previous action favoring a mainland site, and authorizing discussion with the directors of the San Francisco Bay Exposition, Inc.

At a meeting of the latter, called by Pres. Leland W. Cutler of Woodside, unanimous opinion was expressed that no plan yet presented would justify any change in the organization's attitude for the Yerba Buena shoals site.

Because attendance of a number of the directors was required at other meetings, a scheduled general discussion of problems presented by obstacles thrown in the path of the fair project by the board of supervisors was deferred till tomorrow.

The organization will continue to function, it was stated, pending final outcome of the application for use of the shoals scheduled to be determined by the supervisors April 29.

Roosevelt Market Opens New Depts. Saturday, April 20

Store Is Completely Modernized And Enlarged

The Roosevelt Market, 2635 Broadway, opens its doors tomorrow morning, completely modernized, remodeled and enlarged. The chief addition to the market is a new delicatessen department operated by Mr. J. P. Neifing. Mr. Neifing is well known in Redwood City, having formerly been the Frigidaire distributor for this district.

The delicatessen department will handle a complete line of foods prepared on the premises under strictly sanitary conditions. The finest ingredients will be used at all times.

All new fixtures and equipment have been purchased and the interior and exterior of the market as well as the arrangement have been completely changed to afford the greastest convenience to the patrons.

The meat department has been enlarged, as has the vegetable department. These two units will continue to operate under the same management as in the past.

A complete grocery stock will be a new feature of the market, in connection with the delicatessen department.

'Good Tools' for Cook Declared Important Essential By Expert

"'The Little Things in Life' are mighty important things when they are centered in the kitchen," says Miss Barbara Miller, well-known culinary artist, who will conduct The Tribune's cooking school in just a few weeks.

Miss Miller does not recommend a lot of "fancy gadgets," but she says that good work demands good tools and stresses the absolute importane of having the proper implements and equipment if one is to cook successfully.

"The Little Things in Life"—expressed in can-openers, egg beaters, paring knives, measuring spoons and corkscrews—are all so important for the success of a smooth-working kitchen and a happy housewife, according to Miss Miller .

"No matter how cheerful a woman may be when she enters her kitchen, no matter how her heart sings—by the time she has ruined her fingernails with a treacherous "old-time" grater or struggled with a stubborn can-opener, you have one perfectly good disposition ruined; and the result is a cranky cook. The song flies out the chimney—and there you are are!"

Miss Miller has delved deeply into all the troubles—real and imagined—that confront every housewife and she will bring to the women of Redwood City many new ideas of the art of cookery and home management.

The four-day school of cookery, which The Tribune has brought here for your enjoyment, will give a concise presentation of a modern home economics ideas to women attending, and will give them an opportunity of receiving first-hand information from a recogized expert.

Miss Miller writes that her program for the cooking school will be a simple, practical, every-day cross-section of the kitchen.

Miss Miller comes to Redwood City on May 7-8-9-10 to conduct The Tribune's cooking school. The sessions will be held in the McKinley school from 2 to 4 o'clock. Be sure to attend.

Wider Highway Plan Outlined

City's Gas Tax Funds For Right of Way To Be Utilized

Means of securing a possible El Camino Real widening project for Redwood City were outlined to the city council Monday by City Manager E. A. Rolison and endorsed unanimously by the board.

The plan calls for the city to use the $12,000 it has accumulated in the state gas tax fund and the $23,000 it will receive in the next biennium and to use these funds for purchasing rights of way for the widening.

Then funds from the 4,880 million dollar program, which cannot be used for rights of way, would be secured for the actual construction work. These funds are limited to projects on which the rights of way are held.

As reported in The Tribune Saturday, $5,200,000 has been promised the state from the 4,880 million dollar program for state highways.

Councilman Evans Fletcher moved, Councilman Robert Jones seconding, that the program of Rolison be approved.

The council voted support of Senate Bills No. 560 and 561 designed to give the cities a ½-cent share of the state gasoline taxes. The city's interest in the funds is about $11,000. City Manager E. A. Rolison brought the matter up and support of the measures was voted upon motion of Councilman Paul McCarthy, seconded by Councilman Robert Jones.

TO INVEST FUNDS

Investment up to $50,000 of city funds in 3 per cent United States bonds of the series 1946-48 at the market price as soon as practical was authorized by the city council last night. These can be turned into cash at short notice.

The purpose of buying the United States securities is the announcement from the Bank of America that it will not accept any more than the $75,000 city deposits now on hand and on which 2 per cent is paid as interest. The bank originally had set a limit of $125,000.

City Clerk B. E. Myers was also authorized to buy $1,500 of Redwood City general obligation bonds to mature not later than 1940 at a premium to yield not less than 2 per cent for the period.

LIQUOR LAW DELAYED

Attorney Fred Comba appeared before the board to protest against any plan to close liquor stores handling bottle goods at an earlier hour than other liquor places. Mayor Charles Lambert informed the speaker that the council has no such intention. The proposed law was continued for two weeks because of the illness of City Attorney Albert Mansfield.

Use of the Yacht Harbor for the annual Sea Scout regatta on August 31 and September 1 and 2 was granted at the request of James D. Hedge, scout chairman, and Max Leonard, regatta chairman.

The problem of crowing roosters in the Jeter street section as complained of to the city council April 1 has been settled, the council was informed last night, and no law to curb their outcries will be necessary. The owner has decided to do away with the roosters.

Councilman Paul McCarthy reported on the court annex meeting of Friday, April 5, and said that he had worked out the cost to show that the holder of $2,000 of assessable property would pay but 25 cents net per year. Councilman George McNulty praised the manner in which McCarthy had presented the question.

Purchase of a half-page in the annual number of the California Real Estate Association magazine was approved.

WEED PROTEST HEARING

City Engineer Charles Dimmitt informed the council that the weed abatement resolution will come up for public hearing on May 6 at 8 o'clock in the Fire House Hall.

Tax penalties were finally adopted as 8, 3 and 3 per cent by action of the board.

Lighting of the "Redwood City" sign on Bayshore highway all night instead of a shorter period was approved by the board.

Resolution asking co-operation of the merchants in closing stores on July 4th, Armistice Day, Memorial Day, Labor Day and Admission Day, was passed at the suggestion of Councilman Fletcher.

City Building Inspector I. C. Drathman was instructed to secure a copy of the Pacific Coast Building Officials' Conference code and to make a comparison with existing Redwood City codes for a report.

Roy Bissell was given permission to change the style of gasoline pump in front of his business.

The bill, by Senator Walter McGovern, San Francisco, would permit the district to issue bonds to acquire the necessary facilities.

Supervisor Albert Witt, Colma, moved to give support to the bill, and Supervisor John Poole, Redwood City, seconded the motion.

The disastrous dust storms in the Middle West have destroyed all vegetation so that California will have to furnish a great portion of needed supplies in the stricken district.

Our canned goods, wheat and other farm products are to be in big demand at fancy prices. The farmer and fruit man is certain to come into his own in California this year.

It still must be kept a work shop but more efficient and convenient, more saving of her time and steps. Because of her many other present day interests in and outside the home, which claim her time, Mrs. Modern dare not allow herself, like her mother, to be chained to the cooking routine. Therefore, she plans her kitchen so it will serve her instead of enslave her—so that it will give her more time to devote to homemaking, more freedom for recreation and self-development. Mrs. Modern realizes that the installing of modern appliances is the core of Kitchen Modernization and replacing of the outmoded range is the center and the place to start.

After a two-hour struggle a shark 27½ feet long and weighing five tons was caught recently in a fisherman's net in Hout Bay, South Africa.

Flora Haffen Lost at Sea During Trip

Ill Health May Have Caused Fall, Leap From Liner

Disappearance of Mrs. Flora Haffen of 132 Occidental road, Burlingame, from the Panama Pacific liner Pennsylvania at sea off the lower Mexican coast was reported to officials of the line in San Francisco Wednesday.

Mrs. Haffen, wife of J. B. Haffen, manufacturers' agent, either fell or jumped from the ship during the night, it was feared.

No details of the accident were revealed in the brief telegraphic advices to the San Francisco office.

Haffen is away from his offices in San Francisco on a business trip to the northwest, it was reported His sister reported from his Burlingame home that Mrs. Haffen had gone to New York City about a month ago on a trip for her health and to visit relatives.

Catherine Haffen, 10, her daughter, was with Mrs. Haffen on the trip, while another daughter, Frances, 6, is at the family home in Burlingame.

Mrs. Haffen has been in ill health but for a brief period, it was reported.

She was en route home to Burlingame when the accident occurred. The ship was due to dock in San Diego tomorrow.

Haffen will be recalled here as the one who on March 16 instituted a court action as a "citizen and taxpayer" to halt the public vote on the question of revising the county charter. The suit is pending.

Mrs. Lizzie Nichols, Known Here, Passes

Mrs. Lizzie F. Nichols, 71, who lived in Redwood City a number of years ago and who was known here by a number of people, died Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ivera Stewart, in San Francisco, after a lengthy illness, it was learned here today.

If the gap between rotor and inserts in the distributor block is too wide, starting may be difficult on a cold morning, due to formation of moisture.

Betty McCann Fetes Voyageurs

Honoring Miss Jane Fagan, who leaves for Honolulu Saturday, Miss Betty McCann entertained at luncheon yesterday at her home in San Francisco. Not until the guests arrived did they learn that Miss Gloria Wood had hastily decided the evening before to accept Miss Fagan's invitation to sail with her Saturday instead of later in the summer as originally planned. That made it a farewell for two.

The travelers will pass the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Paul I. Fagan, who are also sailing Saturday, at their home in the islands.

Miss McCann's guests were Mrs. Stanley Page, Miss Gloria Wood, Miss Yvonne Thieriot, Miss Mary Grace Borel, Miss Margaret Garceau and Miss Leonie Weeks.

CLUB MAY FLY TO STATE MEET

After listening to Aviator Fred Hammer of Oakland tell of some of his interesting flying experiences members of the Exchange Club, meeting Tuesday at the Woodside Inn, considered flying again to the state convention, to be held at Marysville May 16-18. Several years ago the club chartered two planes and "dropped in" on the Santa Cruz conclave.

Hammer, under whom Club President Harold F. Anderson learned to fly, told the club of tests needed to learn blind flying, and also detailed a number of unusual experiences he had enjoyed.

Exceptionally enjoyable entertainment was reported by club members. S. Penna gave several accordion solos, Hugh Boyce sang and gave impersonations, and Miss Dorothy Heck interpreted several clog dances in costume.

As chairman of the meeting, Dr. William B. Langston put club members through several novel stunts, it was reported. Guest of the club was Frank Durkee, golf professional from Belle Monti Country Club.

Federal Funds Said Available For Local Roads

Because a limited amount of federal emergency funds will be available almost immediately for expenditure on county roads which are not a part of the state highway system, the state division of highways today asked the board of supervisors to anticipate such work and cooperate with the department.

The Mount Rushmore memorial carvings of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, and Roosevelt, in the Black Hills of South Dakota, are expected to last several hundred thousand years.

Woodland Youth Takes Baby Beef Honors at Show

Peter Motta of Woodland, winner of the grand championship for lambs three consecutive years, has been adjudged winner of the grand championship for baby beef of the eighth annual interstate junior livestock show at South San Francisco.

The baby beef championship in the Four-H club division went to Joe Lopez of the Salvation Army Home at Lytton, while John Grab, of King City High School, took the honors in the Future Farmers of America division.

Motta won the advanced division, and the three steers were pitted against each other for grand champion honors.

Henry W. Vaughan, of Bozeman, Mont., acted as judge.

Paul I. Fagan Adds To Hawaiian Estate

Paul I. Fagan, Burlingame and San Francisco capitalist, has added some of the most rugged land in the Hawaiian Islands to his estate there, increasing it by 9000 acres, according to word received here. Fagan now has more than 20,000 acres valued at $225,000 in Molokai.

The new addition includes Hallawa valley, with its village of Hallawa, where a few hundred Hawaiians preserve the language and customs of their ancestors. The 9000-acre tract, which was purchased from the Bishop estate, will be maintained in its native state as a game preserve, it was reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Fagan and daughter, Jane, plan to sail Saturday on the Lurline for their regular spring and summer visit to the islands.

George McQueen, chairman of the meeting, arranged the program.

Melodies, Choruses Featured in Cantata

An American composer, Charles Fonteyn Manney, is the author of the Easter Cantata, "The Resurrection," which is to be presented by the choir of the Methodist church Sunday evening.

The melodies of this cantata are tuneful and in keeping with the exultant theme about which he writes, it is said. The choruses are majestic and powerful, and come to a glorious climax in the finale entitled "Blessing and Honor."

2 Redwood City Men Pass State Bar Test

Redwood City has two new lawyers today.

Paul L. Johnson, recently appointed deputy county clerk in the office of E. B. Hinman, has passed the state bar examination which he took in February at San Francisco, he was advised today.

Johnson, Sequoia high school and Golden Gate College Law School graduate, plans to continue his work in the clerk's office for the time being.

The other local successful candidate was F. Edmund O'Connell, brother of Postmaster R. E. O'Connell Jr. He also is a graduate of Sequoia, but secured his law training at the University of San Francisco, graduating from there last spring. His future plans are undecided.

That his coolies love castor oil and will line up a second time in the hope of getting another dose, has been reported by a planter in Ceylon.

STAGG TELLS 100 OF HIS EXPERIENCE

Greatest Satisfaction Came From Rearing Children

A grand old man who, though publicized as few men have been, has obtained his "greatest satisfaction" from the successful rearing of his three children—

A grand old man who, when he had reached his allotted three score and 10 years, couldn't give up trying to train youngsters to do right—

A grand old man who, though paid to produce championship teams, would try to develop initiative and manhood in a boy even if he had to lose an athletic contest—

A grand old man who, drawing on his rich experience of 45 years' coaching, used anecdotes to show how development of initiative and goodness in children was the greatest thing in the world—

That was Amos Alonzo Stagg as nearly 100 Menokirk members and friends and their ladies saw him Monday when he spoke at the Congregational church here.

The venerable silver-haired, stocky, dynamic 73-year-old coach, while keeping his audience chuckling at amusing incidents he detailed in a rambling and informal manner, drove home to the crowd that a family which lived on a cooperative basis, holding "board of strategy" meetings, would surely be the happiest.

CITES 'TRAGEDY'

"It is not best to have the family revolve around the father, or the mother, or any one person," he declared. To illustrate his point, he told of one candidate for a football team who had to give up his beloved football because his mother so ruled.

"That mother's lack of understanding was a tragedy to that fine handsome boy. Because she didn't let him take an initiative at the proper time, he became ashamed of himself, lost interest in college and finally was dismissed. The result was a tragedy. While it isn't good to let a youngster have everything he wants, his initiative should certainly be developed."

Importance of athletics was stressed by Stagg, who, after 41 years of coaching at the University of Chicago, came to College of the Pacific at Stockton where he has been for two years. He told of supplying his boys, Amos Alonzo Jr. and Paul, with boxing gloves and of the benefit derived; told of how a Phi Beta Kappa sadly admitted 25 years after his graduation that he hadn't become a success, in his opinion, because he had never played in athletic contests.

"You must get into things if you're going to get the full values out of them," he declared. "I believe in getting into the midst of things. Youngsters should participate directly in everything that is good for them."

Accompanying Coach Stagg was his wife, to whom he has been married 40 years. She was introduced by Donald Bogie, Menokirk Club president, but declined to speak.

Stagg's talk was preceded by a delightful "home-style" dinner served by the Plymouth Guild of the Congregational church. Mrs. Clifton Woodhams headed the committee in charge.

Entertainment for the gathering was provided by a double quartet, directed by Herman Phillips, which sang, to the enjoyment of the audience, three numbers.

Next meeting of the Menokirk Club will be June 12.

MACDONALD GREETS IL DUCE AT STRESA MEET

Prime Minister MacDonald (right) of Great Britain is shown greeting Premier Mussolini of Italy as the latter arrived at Stresa, Italy, to take part in a tripower conference in which the arms situation in Europe and Germany's recent determination to build up her military machine came under consideration. This picture was sent by wire from Stresa to Paris, relayed from Paris to London and thence radioed to New York, and then rushed to this newspaper. (Associated Press Photo)

DEMONSTRATORS PARADE AT WHITE HOUSE

SIX RADIOS SOLD
'Ad' Attracts Buyers
IT'S DAILY TALE

Six used automobile radios sold in three days!

That's results; and that's what a Tribune classified ad did for the Bissell Tire and Battery Service, according to Roy Bissell and B. A. Roettger, proprietors.

These are not unusual results; people are selling, renting, buying and exchanging every day through The Tribune classified ads. They get results because they reach more people every day than any other medium in Southern San Mateo county.

Burlingame Doctor Sued for Divorce

Abraham Lincoln Lachman, Burlingame chiropractor, swore at his wife and beat her, on one occasion threw a chair at her and has beaten their minor child, Mrs. Maude Lachman charged today in a suit asking divorce on grounds of extreme cruelty.

Shortly after the divorce action was filed, Lachman himself filed a demurrer to the complaint, denying the charges contained therein.

CLUBS BACK ROAD PLAN
